ORGANISATIONAL CONTEXT

Sunraysia Mallee Ethnic Communities Council Inc. (SMECC) is a leading not-for-profit community-based organisation supporting new migrants, refugees and seasonal workers to settle into Mildura and the surrounding area, for over 40 years. It is a member-based organization and the peak body for refugee and migrant groups in the Mallee region. By focusing on people's strengths, we are able to develop stronger communities, support other service providers and influence decision makers at local, state and national levels.

The organisation is currently employing 27 people and receiving assistance from approximately 40 volunteers from within the community. Services are currently being offered at Mildura and Swan Hill.

SMECC was initially known as the Sunraysia Advisory Group and was formed in 1979 after a heavy downpour ruined many of the grape vines in the area. Migrants from Croatia, Greece, Italy and Turkey did not know who to turn to for assistance; so through contact with the Mayor and other Councillors the different ethnic groups agreed that one large cohesive group needed to be established to help resolve the common issues that they faced. The migrant groups recognised language as the major barrier between themselves and seeking the help needed.

The Board of Management consists of a diverse collection of leaders from Sunraysia's private, community and public sectors, including representation from SMECC's many incorporated cultural community groups.

Organisational Culture and Values

- Enterprising and innovative
- Respectful and open minded
- Promoting equity
- SMECC is underpinned by a strong foundation and focus on social justice, human rights, inclusiveness, diversity, and sustainability
- The organization strives to work with integrity, contribute with a collaborative and respectful approach, drawing on the cross section of local community, business and government to develop targeted and sustainable solutions for a multicultural community.
